

SORE THROATS

Sore throats are common in children, and are usually occur with colds and coughs caused by viruses. If your child has a sore throat without any cold or cough symptoms, they may have strep throat.

For more information about strep throat, please check out:

- https://www.caringforkids.cps.ca/handouts/strep_throat